GEORGE GRIST TRIES LIFE ON THE OCEAN WAVE AS PRELIMINARY TO MARINE ENGINEERING

The shipyards strike is likely to have a lasting influence upon the life of George Grist, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grist, of 317 North Brand boulevard. For some time he had been considering the advisability of fitting himself to become a marine engineer. Seafaring friends whose advice he sought encouraged him and told him there never was a finer chance for young men in that line than now when our merchant marine is expanding and taking its rightful place in the world's commerce, but they also advised him to try an ocean voyage to determine whether he would like marine engineering. So, when the strike came, he concluded he would never have a better chance. Through a friend he secured an opportunity to ship on the "West Kasson" for Hong Kong and back by way of the Philippines. If he likes the life on his return he will go to Berkeley and take a course which will enable him to qualify as a marine engineer.

CORP. LYONS HOME

RETURNS TO GLENDALE AFTER VARIED EXPERIENCES ON EUROPEAN BATTLEFIELDS

Corp. Jas. G. Lyons of 321 East Maple street arrived at home Thursday night. He reached the Presidio in San Francisco Wednesday afternoon and had the good fortune to meet some of his former officers at Camp Kearny, who assisted in obtaining an immediate discharge. Young Lyons enlisted April 16, 1917, in the 157th Field Hospital Corps, 115th Sanitary Train, 40th Division. Before that he was with the old 7th Regiment in the California National Guard. He went across last year and served in several capacities, as cook, wagoner, stretcher bearer and a truck driver carrying supplies from one hospital to another. He was in the Meuse-Argonne offensive for a week and helped to carry many wounded from the thick of the fighting. He expects to go back to his old job with the telephone company.

GO TO MAMMOTH LAKE

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hutchinson are planning a camping trip to Mammoth Lake, in Inyo county, about the middle of the month. When asked whether Mr. Hutchinson was favorably disposed toward the aluminum honeycomb, his wife stated that he has had the same idea in mind and had models all ready to patent when the product now being offered was patented and put on the market. He did not dream that any one else had any such idea and was astonished enough when it appeared.

AUTO CAMP GROUNDS

MRS. DURHAM SAYS MOTORISTS FREQUENTLY SEEK THIS ACCOMMODATION HERE

Mrs. J. W. Durham of 611 West Elk avenue informs the Evening News that an auto camping park for Glendale is sadly needed along the San Fernando Road. She says that auto parties traveling this main thoroughfare frequently ask residents down there if Glendale has such accommodations. Last evening she directed a party to drive into a vacant residence lot where there is considerable shed room and which has city water on it. Mrs. Durham says this tract could be bought reasonably and she thinks it would be ideal for the purpose.

FOURTH OF JULY GATHERING

The Fourth of July was celebrated at the John A. Logan home on Central avenue by a gathering of relatives and friends for a picnic supper followed by an evening of cards and dancing. Their guest list included Mr. and Mrs. John Hobbs, Miss Dorothy Hobbs, Mrs. Noble Ripley, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stephenson and Dwight Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Smith, Mrs. Hallie Ilse and Jim Henry Ilse, Miss Shaw, Misses Ernestine Lyon, Gladys Justema, Jeanette Seaman, Ruby Stone, Messrs. Jamie Shea and Joe Rhodes, Mrs. A. J. Van Wie and her two sons.

WEATHER FORECAST — Fair. Warmer near the coast. Cooler in the interior.

AT BIG BEAR

MANY GLENDALE PEOPLE SPEND WEEK-END AT POPULAR MOUNTAIN RESORT

Jesse Smith has returned from Big Bear Lake and is enthusiastic about that mountain resort and the Glendale Colony which makes citizens of our suburb feel very much at home there. He declares that not less than thirty people from Glendale spent July Fourth and the Sunday following there, and mentioned the following whom he met: Mr. and Mrs. William MacMullin, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pearce, Miss Margaret Brennan, Harry Farnsworth McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Salmacia, Mr. and Mrs. Hastings and their son George Hastings, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Papineau.

NEWS OF ADVENTISTS

OFFICIALS OF PACIFIC UNION CONFERENCE RETURN FROM CAMP MEETING

Secretary Frank Coffin, Elder Christian, Mr. Emerson, Elder G. W. Raser and Elder J. A. Stevens have returned from the camp meeting at Modesto and the conference which followed it at Lodi where this week an institute for teachers of the Pacific Union Conference is now in session in charge of Prof. M. E. Cady who is the educational superintendent in the Pacific Union field. Between one hundred and two hundred teachers of parochial schools are in attendance. The chief subject of consideration is the recommendations made by the General Conference of a new course of study for the elementary schools, academies and colleges in an endeavor to bring vocational training more to the front and give students better training along manual lines. This is in sympathy with the similar movement in the public schools of the United States.

Mr. Coffin reports that the attendance at the Modesto Camp Meeting was very good. It was held in the Eucalyptus Grove in Enslen Park. There were no business sessions this year and at the Lodi conference the chief item of interest was a transfer of the management of the Lodi Academy from the Pacific Union Conference to the Northern and Central Conferences which will jointly have charge of it hereafter.

The next camp meeting of interest to Seventh Day Adventists of Southern California will be held at Orange from July 31st to August 10th.

HOGUE PARTY HOME

ENJOY TWO WEEKS' CAMPING TRIP AT BIG BEAR LAKE

Dr. and Mrs. R. V. Hogue, their son Benjy, and Mrs. Tuck have returned from a two-weeks' camping trip at Big Bear Lake, where they had such a good time they felt like staying two weeks longer. They report the fishing quite proo, probably because of the excess of fishermen for over the Fourth. There was a great influx of people from everywhere and many persons were unable to obtain accommodations. The Hogues camped at Fawn Skin on the north side of the lake which is quieter than the other side. They went by way of the new City Creek Road which has no shade and is so hot they advise tourists bound for the valley to take a longer route. Coming home they took "the rim of the world" route and Waterman Canyon which is shaded and so cool that autoists can make better time than on the more exposed road although the distance covered is greater.

IN THE LIMELIGHT

L. C. BRAND AND HIS MONO EAGLE GOOD NEWSPAPER COPY

Brand's Mono Eagle and Lieut. Elon Brown, pilot of the same, are much in the public eye of late. The first trip to Brand's Mono Lake ranch, near Bishop, was made July 4th. A stop was made at Bakersfield to deliver bundles of a Los Angeles newspaper that sought this kind of notoriety. The trip was a most difficult one, Lieut. Brown reports. He was buffeted by high winds and made the landing at Bakersfield with the greatest difficulty and long after the time set. When he resumed his flight he encountered such fierce winds that he was forced to land at Mojave, but finally got away and finished the trip.

HARRY NEW STILL DEPENDING ON SENATOR

EXPRESSES BELIEF HE WILL COME TO LOS ANGELES TO CONDUCT HIS DEFENSE IN PERSON

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 7.—Harry S. New, confidently expecting United States Senator Harry S. New of Indianapolis whom he claims is his father, to come to his assistance, pleaded with the police today to be allowed to see the dead body of Miss Frieda Lesser, the pretty girl whom he admits killing in dark Topanga canyon, Friday night, twenty-four hours before they were to have been married.

"I find myself saying at times, 'I think I'll go and see Frieda,' " he told the detectives. "Oh, can't I see her now?"

He will be permitted to view the remains of his dead sweetheart as soon as the inquest, which is scheduled for tomorrow, is over, the police said.

New today even expressed the belief that Senator New would come to Los Angeles to conduct his defense in person.

"He told me once to call on him if I were ever in trouble," New said. "My sister says my Mother has asked him to help.

Increasing nervousness characterized New's attitude in the last twenty-four hours and fears were entertained by the police that he might attempt suicide. For that reason a guard is being held in his cell night and day. Reports that he had attempted to beat out his brains against the bars of the cell yesterday, were denied by the police who were with him throughout the day.

R-34 TO MAKE RETURN FLIGHT AT ONCE

COMMANDER LANSDOWNE WHO REPRESENTED U. S. IN FLIGHT SECURES VALUABLE INFORMATION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

MINEOLA, L. I., July 7.—It has been unofficially stated that the giant British dirigible, R-34 which arrived yesterday from England, may leave for the return trip this evening from Roosevelt field. The original plan provided for departure tomorrow. The commander would not confirm the report.

Commander Lansdowne who represented the United States on the trip, declared he had secured most valuable information for the use of the navy department.

MASSACRES IN RUSSIAN TURKESTAN

BOLSHEVIKI OCCUPY TASHKENT AND PUT TO DEATH SIX THOUSAND OF INHABITANTS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, July 7.—A Constantinople dispatch received today said that Bolshevik forces had occupied Tashkent in Russian Turkestan and had executed six thousand of the inhabitants. The dispatch also stated that the brother of former Russian premier Kerensky was among those executed.

RADICALISM SPREADING IN ITALY

GOVERNMENT WARNS AGAINST ENDEAVOR TO MAKE POLITICAL CAPITAL OF ECONOMIC AGITATION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

ROME, July 7.—A radical movement is spreading over Italy. Socialist, syndicalist, anarchist and political agitators are leading the movement centering here and are asking other cities to join. The government has issued a statement officially warning people against the elements which are "endeavoring to transform economic agitation into a political movement."

Food prices are causing the greatest unrest. The government has authorized all municipalities and provinces to regulate prices. It is announced that a large amount of frozen beef has been thrown upon the market and is selling at 50 cents a pound. The cabinet met today for further consideration of the situation. It is reported that civilian organizations in many cities are taking control of the food situation.

"SECRET GOVERNMENT" CONTROL CHARGED

CONGRESSMAN GRAHAM SAYS NATIONAL COUNCIL OF DEFENSE CONSTITUTED "SECRET GOVERNMENT"

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Chairman Graham of the special House committee on war expenditures today charged that a "secret government" which disregarded laws, controlled the government during the war. He says that members of the advisory committee of the National Council of Defense constituted the secret government. These included Hollis Godfrey, Howard Coffin, Bernard Baruch, Samuel Gompers, Franklin Martin and others.

He charged that the president disregarded Congress by making advisory board members really executives; that interested parties were permitted to set food prices in violation of trust laws; that "secret government" was responsible for government departments bidding against each other for supplies. The charges were made in a formal statement.

WAR AND RELIGION

ALTON M. BROOKS AND SERGT. OWEN EMERY EXPLAIN SOLDIERS' MENTAL ATTITUDE

In the absence of the pastor, the Sunday evening service at the First Methodist Church of Glendale was conducted by Rev. C. R. Norton, the speakers being Sergeant Owen Emery and Alton M. Brooks, who both dwelt upon the influence of war upon their vision of life and the convictions it had brought them.

Excellent music was furnished by the choir and organist, Miss Margaret Lusby giving the vocal solo number, "Ring Out Sweet Bells of Peace." On account of the fluctuation of the electric lights it seemed for a time as though the service might be seriously interrupted.

Sergt. Emery's theme was "Religion Over There." He explained how different are the churches in France and Belgium, all of them Catholic, from the churches to which he was accustomed in America, how beautiful and impressive are the cathedrals from an architectural viewpoint, but how much they lack on the inside the warmth of human feeling. He spoke of the magnificence of Notre Dame in Paris and how dark, damp, mouldy and depressing its interior is, and the French people, he concluded, need more warmth and fire in their religion, more human kindness and sincerity. The French Christianity, as he saw it, is depressing. The service they hear is in Latin which the people do not understand.

In the army, he declared, there was no such thing as religion, as we know it here, among the boys. There was a good deal of profanity, he admitted, but it was unconscious and meant nothing, and when the men were in a perilous position on the front they did not stop and pray to be taken care of. They had subconsciously

AT LONG BEACH

MERRY PARTY OF GLENDALIANS ENJOY FOURTH OF JULY PICNIC

A Glendale party that spent a most enjoyable Fourth at Long Beach consisted of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Douthat and children, Dorothy and Charles, of Orange Grove avenue; Mrs. Alma Winburn and son Douthat of Searcy, Ark., guests of the Douthats; Mr. and Mrs. Harry McQuown of Orange street, Mr. and Mrs. J. Morgan Fife and children, Margaret, James and Mildred, also Mrs. Margaret Fife, of Orange street. They went down in two machine loads and met on the sands, where with delicious Arkansas-cured hams and toothsome Glendale fried chicken, they enjoyed a most delightful feast, afterward visiting the shipyards and Fort MacArthur.

MOVE TO PASO ROBLES

MRS. STONE AND DAUGHTER WILL LEAVE GLENDALE TO MAKE HOME ON RANCH

Mrs. W. J. Stone and daughter, Imogene, who have been living at 210 South Central avenue since Mr. Stone's departure for the east on an extended business trip, will go to the new home on a ranch near Paso Robles the last of this week. Mr. Stone expects to return in August or September and will then visit Glendale to pack and ship the household goods yet remaining here.

GUESTS FROM MINNESOTA

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Chase of 400 Riverdale Drive are entertaining Mr. Chase's grandniece, Bettie Robinson, of Faribault, Minn., and a small grandnephew, James Chase Babbitt, who came with them when they returned from a week-end trip to Long Beach. They are also having a little visit from their son, Alexander Chase, who is taking a summer course at Page Military Academy, which he is enjoying very much so far.

CAMPING TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Goss of Harvard street and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Salisbury motored to Big Bear Valley Thursday night and got back Sunday. It was a camping trip and their first visit to those mountains. Mrs. Goss declared the lake rimmed with pine trees reminded her of her old home state, Minnesota, more than any spot she has visited in California.

VICTORY SUNDAY

OBSERVED BY CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH MOST IMPRESSIVELY

Sunday, July 6th, was designated as Victory Sunday for the celebration of World Peace and the Prohibition victory. Rev. Cole at Central Christian Church adapted his evening sermon on "Giedon, the Honest Doubter," to fit the occasion. The story of Gideon's selection by the angel of the Lord to lead the Israelite band against the hosts of Midian, and his modest doubts as to his fitness for so great a task were briefly sketched and the tests he proposed to the angel to prove that God did really choose him. This brought out not only Gideon's self-depreciation, but also God's wonderful patience, said the speaker. The month of June, 1919, he said, will be memorable in history as long as the world stands, for three notable victories—the first sustained flight across the Atlantic Ocean in an airship, the signing of the peace pact that ended the World War and the doom of the liquor traffic in America. Ever since the days of Noah the fight between drunkenness and decency has been waged and at last the greatest nation on the earth has banned the liquor traffic in men's souls and women's tears. The victory has been won, but not completely. There are now being made desperate efforts to nullify the will of the sovereign people by the conscienceless liquor dealers but they will not avail. "Even as Elihu, son of Ram, obtruded his unwise counsel on the suffering Job, so our modern Elihu (Root), evidently of the Ram family, also, butts in to advise the liquor men how to proceed to defy the nation's will." None of the pioneers in this great movement lived to see the consummation of their hopes and efforts, but it is to such men and women as Neal Dow, John B. Gough, Frances E. Willard and Carrie Nation that we owe much of the credit for today's success. And in all the stumbling efforts to roll the burden of this curse from the shoulders of our people, God's infinite patience was evident. Much more along this line was said by the speaker, who drew many lessons therefrom for the church of the future to profit by.

The morning service was on "The Church," which was instituted on the Day of Pentecost and continued a united body for many years. God's will cannot be accomplished, he said, till the Church of Christ is again united in one body. The make-up of the church, the name it should bear, the officers it should have and the terms of admission thereto, set down in Acts, were clearly set forth.

MRS. AYARS RETURNS

BRINGS HER MOTHER FROM RACINE, WISCONSIN, TO RESIDE WITH HER

Mrs. Frank Ayars of 214 West Chestnut street, who was called east by the death of her father, got back to Glendale Friday after a very comfortable journey. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. L. W. Needham, of Racine, Wisconsin, who has many times visited Glendale in the past and who will now make her home here with Mrs. Ayars. While the eastern country is very beautiful at this season, the trees being especially lovely, Mrs. Ayars says she does not like the climate and is very glad to be in California again.

MISS SEAMAN RETURNS

Miss Jeanette Seaman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Seaman, who formerly resided on South Central avenue near Los Feliz Road, and are now living in Ohio, returned to California recently with her aunt who lives in Pasadena. She was the guest of her old friend, Mary Logan, for the Fourth and the week-end. She says she likes Ohio, but is also very fond of California.

FOR ALL VIRGINIANS

A jolly picnic reunion for all Virginians is planned for Saturday afternoon, July 12th, in Sycamore Grove, Los Angeles, with basket picnic suppers at 6 o'clock.

As there are not very many Virginians here all are urged to respond and also to help pass the word on to others.

The society desires to make it the best ever held.

E. R. Naudain of the Glendale Electric Company went to Little Bear Thursday evening to stay over Sunday and enjoy a short vacation outing.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, MONDAY, JULY 7, 1919

WHERE ROOSEVELT WON GREATEST VICTORY

The Roosevelt family, obeying a self-imposed rule of good taste, has not been inclined to talk of its most distinguished member. A model of modest self-effacement, it has not sat in the front row with reflectors to fling back glory.

But Mrs. Douglas Robinson, sister of Colonel Roosevelt, has been moved to tell at a semi-private meeting, something about the little boy she knew in nursery days. Letting her mind run back, she said:

A little, dainty, narrow-chested boy in the nursery, suffering so that he could hardly breathe and propped up always with pillows, that was Theodore Roosevelt. He never said a word, never uttered a complaint, yet we all knew he suffered intensely. His asthma tortured him every moment, but there he sat quietly, thinking, writing, smiling. When he was nine years old my father built an open porch so that Theodore could live outdoors and fitted it up with all sorts of gymnastic devices. "You have got the mind, but you haven't got the body; you have got to make your body strong enough to do all that your mind wants to do," he told my brother.

The exemplar of the strenous life, his years crowded with achievement, fought and won his greatest victory in boyhood. That which came after was easy. He forced his tissues to obey, and so doing he performed the greatest task of hardening his will. Tell it to the Froebelists, to the Montessorians, to the Fruedians, who hold education consists in doing as one pleases and that the sin of sins is to thwart desires. Out of the depths of his experience, Colonel Roosevelt derived the doctrine he ever preached; to work hard, study hard, play hard, hit the line hard.—New York Tribune.

END POLITICAL REGULATION OR KILL INDUSTRY

Has the country gone "regulation" crazy?

The railroads, public utilities, shipping and shipbuilding industry have been virtually regulated to death as they can no longer stand on their own feet without government support in the shape of taxpayers' money to meet deficits due to "regulation" requiring them to run at a loss.

Now the politicians turn to new fields as an excuse for holding their jobs and decide that the meat packing industry needs "regulation." At present the industry is self-supporting and the man who buys meat pays for it. Under five years of "regulation" the general taxpayer would begin to pay for somebody else's meat, the same as he does now to cover railroad deficits in order to allow cheap rates for the man who rides.

If the packing industry goes under political "regulation," how will the prices be set on goods bought from the farmer? Never before in history has he received such prices for hogs, cattle, sheep, etc. Statistics show that prices of farm products have increased a greater per cent than any other line of industry. You can't regulate the manufacturing end of a business and let the end furnishing the raw products run wild. Of course the politicians don't mention any regulation for the farmer, it wouldn't be popular, but the regulation will be there just the same.

Political meddling with business in this country must stop or the tax bill to support the taxeaters, and the cost of living will be driven to a point which will bankrupt the common citizen and paralyze industry.—The Manufacturer.

ROCKFELLER'S MILLIONS FIGHT AGAINST DISEASE

Fifteen out of the eighteen specific fields mentioned in the report of the Rockefeller Foundation for 1918 were directly related to the battle against disease, either in preventive or remedial phases. The world at large was its opportunity, the creation of a medical center in Pekin and the support of medical schools in various parts of China being matched with expenditures in the campaign against tuberculosis in France, fighting the yellow fever in Guatemala and Ecuador, encouraging public health organization in Brazil and Australia, while taking an active part in sanitation movements in twenty-one foreign countries and in twelve of the United States.

Aside from the appropriations for relief work, incidental to the devestation of war, sanitation and health may be said to have monopolized the available millions of the Foundation, and a better objective, on the whole, could not be devised or desired. Health is man's greatest boon. Give him that, and although his social, industrial and economic problems will not be eliminated, he will have the mental and physical power to work his way out of them.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

"Into the fog of the Banks they zoomed," writes a poet, moved to utterance by the hopping off of the aeroplanes from the shores of Newfoundland, and finding a new word to express the sound which the indignant writer of a letter to a St. Johns newspaper declares frightens his hens and reduces their product of eggs. Future dictionaries may find a place for the verb "zoom." Considering all one has read about the aviators waiting, however, one may be allowed to wonder a little whether they actually zoomed into the fog. An earlier poet described the landing of the Pilgrims where the breaking waves dashed high on a stern and rockbound coast, and many readers have accepted that rugged picture of the historic scene without realizing that the spot where they landed was particularly lacking in rocks.—C. S. Monitor.

STEVENSON'S FICTION MADE FACT BY SAMOAN KIDS

Alas, for Stevenson of the graphic pen! Here is a subject worthy of his powers, and how he would have relished it.

In the very region where Stevenson wrote some of his most delightful tales, the Island of Samoa, certain small boys have been digging up buried treasure.

The treasure is forty chests filled with gold and buried by the German officers who sought to flee from the islands after the United States joined the allies.

When the United States navy officers questioned the Germans they claimed to have disposed of all the money to German agents. But Commander Strum of the U. S. N. knew a thing or two about Germans, so he started detalis of his men searching for the treasure.

They found nothing. Thn Strum appealed to the school children

They found nothing. Then Strum appealed to the school children of Samoa, and never did children have a job more to their taste. They dug and they delved, they hunted and they prospected, and did they find the gold? They did. Leave it to them. Almost all of the supply has been unearthed and turned over to Uncle Sam.

It is easy to imagine that school teachers in Somoa found their lives hard during these days of treasure-hunting, for what book could hold a tale half so exciting, or what arithmetic problem be nearly so thrilling as trying to guess how much gold each chest contained!

Huck and Tom will turn in their graves when they hear of this. —Santa Ana Register.

SIMPKINS GETS HIS DANDER UP

whenever sum of thes hear anxsation fellers git out of the corral and go a bustin over the hull blomin range a spoutin ther propagander abot taxes and sich it jest gits my dander up and i want tu hog tie the maverick and brand him so deep he woodnt be fit foder for kiotes.

Semes like sum on us cant git away from them tarnation habits of a sitin round on a craker box and a everlastin lambastin sumbudy what they lowed had tried to do them out of sumthin without first findin out what they was a talkin about.

This here los angeles semes to be ferever trin to bust inter the herd when theys a restin peceful and stampedin the bunch and theys alus a few short horns that are redy to git skart at the least provakation and go bellerin round like they wuz possessed without a thinkin of the consequencus.

Lemeul Perkins alus lowed "that them that has, gits" and I rekon Lem wuz bout rite, to sum extent, but by craky we'll git out the old pinto and ride this here range with a cuple of six shooters and make chow of eny measly pup that tries to change our brand, so help me Hanner.

Twant so very long ago that thes here diggins consisted mainly of a dobe blok hous and a free range fer sheep. Then long cumes a few ol timers who cast ther wether eye over the vast expans of sage and cactus and lowed ther wuz a kickin chanee to make a gardin spot on thes hills owin to the water what mite be drod from the canon.

Them wuz the days when it wuz nip and tuck with the jack rabits and kiotes as to who wuz a goin to git the crop. And I rekon sum times it wuz nip and sum times tuck. But howsumever old timer finaly won and then he had time to find out that the hull bloomin range wuz bein run on the blink.

Bout this time to mister uplifter passes the apple jack and things begun to start. Ther wus a stampede naterly and the herd seperated, goin every which way, hell bent for election and the devil take the hindermost. Sum lowed theyd hit it for town, some on em tuk Greeleys advise and went West while the rest rekoned that sage brush want so bad after all.

Semes like the biges part on em wuz them what started fer town but they alls had ben reglars on Verdugo Rode fer so long they kinda lost the trail and brot up at the river. Not bein ust to sech stuf and bein a little shy on takin a chanct, after some elucidation and exchange of opinons they decided to camp fer the nite. In the mornin they rekoned that it mite not be good policy to be gittin too fer away from wher they could liker up when ocasion demanded and yet fer enuf from that pizen bunch in the foot hills, so the town of Mason sprung up.

The mavericks that headed West found a winery for they had got far so they up and stoped wher they bilt a depo what they lowed would be the stepin stone to a city of sum proportions in a near futur. With a demijon of red eye this imposin edefic was dubed Sepulveda.

Not carin to leave Verdugo Rode to its own resorses the pizen bunch stuck to the ship and the irigatin ditch. Here they rased alfalfe and kids and lived in pece and quite. Setelin ther little diferences with boy nifes, sawed off shot guns and sundry Sunday trips to the park.

After a cuple of gasps Sepulveda gives up the gost and stagered into camp Glendale to die with ther boots on. Mason, durin thes rituous days, humped herslf and when they wuznt rasin strawburys and lernin to talk jap, bilt a skule hous, a church and a pust ofic. Now Mason wuznt such a peceful comunity as Glendale and sum on em riz up in meetin one day an lowed tuther side of town wuz tryin to run things and by hech they wouldnt stand fer it. Semes they demanded ther rights and cordin to reports they got em and lefts too. Well, while all thes doins were goin on and the pizen bunch looked on and when things wuz the hotest they jest naterly up and confiskates the town pump long with the skule hous, church and pust ofic. After gettin all this and owin to ther peceful ways why Glendale jest couldnt help from growin. After the meat boy had ben stuck in the mud on the main thurefare a few times and a hotle had been bilt (even tho no person ever slep in it) a few of the reglars got ther heds together and incorporated sos they could have a bord of trusteys and fix the streets.

Mason, howsumever, continued to rangle. They went a ragin round holdin lections to go sum wher and cusin the powers that be till youd think shed ben etin loco weed. Finaly one lection did go over and Glendale brot her along in with the other things and every budy semed satisfied and things wuz a goin peceful.

Now long cums a nother bunch of squellers and lows los angeles is the brand to tie too. Enything to git red of the gang of swindlers and grafters that is a spendin ther money in the city hall. Thes same ones who wuz lected by a majorty of the voters a short time ago. As Lem seys: "Them that has, gits."

Ding bust my buttens, are we, as a pece lovin comunity, even to the extent of jectulatin our point with a hot brandin iron and a brace of six shooters, a goin to low our brand to be changed? Not on yer fotegraf.

WAR AND RELIGION

done it. The saying over there was, he quoted: "If a shell has your number, it will get you" and the men never tried to run and hide. "You," said he, "would call it fatalism."

"The boys didn't need to pray. They didn't need to be fatalistic. What were they fighting for? Not for bleeding France because the blood of France in the majority of cases wasn't worth the spilling. They were not fighting for Belgium because Belgium got what was coming to her. They were fighting for the United States, for the principle the United States stands for. That principle is humanity, the right of man to live in peace and security. This war was fought for that principle. They were fighting for the same principle the Prince of Peace died for.

"When these boys come back and do not always do just as you would like to see them do, remember the Christianity they have shown in risking their lives. The fires they have gone through for that sacred principle, have left in the minds of those boys many things that are not tangible at present. A comradeship has been developed and a spirit of humanity that this country never knew before. Watch them and they will teach you some lessons."

In explanation of his disparagement of France, he said:

"France needed cleaning out. The boys used to say: 'The way to punish the Kaiser would be to give him France and make him live there.' I think because France and Belgium have been through these fires they are going to be better nations. I think the United States should help them to be better nations.

"You who have not seen it can have no conception how far behind us they are. The boys would do anything to keep this nation from sinking to as low a status morally as are the people of France and Belgium. Isn't that Christianity? The religion with which they are coming back is to make this country the greatest country on earth as the champion of humanity. That is what the Prince of Peace was, and that is what those boys were."

Mr. Brooks referred to his different field in Italy which he had visited eighteen years ago. He said the conditions under which he met the Italians this time made him appreciate their virtues as he had not done before.

Most of all was he impressed by their industry and their patience which has led to wonderful creations in art unrivaled in any other country. He described some of the cathedrals and their treasures of painting and sculpture. He also spoke of their cultivation of music even among the most humble in spite of their illiteracy, for as yet the great Italian universities are for the rich few. The free common schools in the small communities do not carry the pupils beyond the third grade nor in the cities beyond the sixth grade.

In seeking the cause of poverty in Italy and why the people of that land have not made greater progress he expressed the belief that it is because too much has been put into the great cathedrals, too much into marble and stone and not enough into human beings.

He expressed regret over the decision of the Peace Commission to deny Fiume to Italy which was hers originally. When Italy entered the war, he said, ninety per cent. of the population of Fiume, which was Italian at heart, abandoned their homes and returned to Italy to enroll under her banner. When the war ended these expatriated people besought the Italians not to abandon them after the fight they had made in the Italian cause, and Italy, in his opinion, could take no other stand than the one she did. He believed, if the matter had been properly presented to President Wilson he never would have cast the vote he did.

Wonderful Opportunities in the Automobile Field

The history of American industries shows nothing which can compare with the rapid growth of automobile manufacturing. In the past few years a wonderful industry has been developed. In the United States alone there are over 500 factories at work on automobile construction, representing a capital of about $2,000,000,000. Besides there are about 32,000 dealers in the United States employing several hundreds of thousands of men and women.

The development of automobile delivery trucks and light wagons is proceeding rapidly and every year sees the introduction of new makes in large numbers.

The demand from factories, garages, and salesmen for trained men is a direct result of this marvelous growth. The supply of such men is small—their pay correspondingly high. This is the field of opportunity you can enter through the sure, easy Home-Study Courses of the

International Correspondence Schools
OF SCRANTON, PA.

Hundreds of thousands have proved it. The designer of the Packard "Twin Six" and hundreds of other engineers have climbed to success through I.C.S. help. For 28 years young men in offices, stores, shops, factories, mines, railroads—in every line of technical and commercial work—have been winning promotion and increased salaries through the I.C.S. Over 130,000 men are getting ready right now in the I.C.S. way for bigger jobs ahead. No matter where you live the I.C.S. will come to you. No matter what your handicap or how limited your means, the I.C.S. have a plan to meet your circumstances. No matter how small your previous education, the simply written, wonderfully illustrated I.C.S. textbooks make it easy to learn.

Co-Designer Liberty Motor

I take great pleasure in recommending your Courses to any young man who is ambitious and anxious to get the necessary education to enable him to make the most of his opportunities.

I enrolled for an I.C.S. Course several years ago, and I have found the instruction contained therein to be of great value. I heartily recommend the I.C.S. to any young man who desires to make a success of life.
